

Suisun Valley

An Insider's Buy on Premium California Wine Grapes

Standing amidst the vines of Lanza Vineyards, a family owner and operated vineyard and arguably the cornerstone of all the Suisun (sue-soon) Valley's Wine Grape Growers, the Napa county line is just literally a stone's throw away. Yet, this wine growing valley has lied away from the appreciating palates of both winemakers and wine afficianados. The reason - well its simple. For years the growers of premium wine grapes from this valley have been shrouded from the open market due to the area being a prime contract location for numerous prominent Napa wineries who knew they could come to the Valley next door and buy ultra premium grapes for excellent prices.

The Suisun Valley, in its proximity to Napa Valley, can boast the very same growing conditions and variation that can be found within Napa. Influenced by the coastal area climate but shielded from fog, the Suisun Valley supports micro-climates that afford the ability to grow cool climate Chardonnay in the South end of the Valley and warm climate Cabernet in the North. As for the growers, Larry and Ken Lanza know their valley and how to bring out the best in the grapes they grow. Like the relaxed pace of the overall Suisun Valley, when compared to its Napa neighbor, Larry and Ken wait patiently and allow their grapes to reach full varietal potential.

Today, the wine growers of Suisun Valley are looking to step out from the shadows and to claim the recognition that is so deservedly theirs. M&M Wine Grape Co. is proud to be the exclusive representative of Suisun Valley wine grapes and to now make those wine grapes available to wineries across the country.

For the winery that is looking to produce or bottle wines that are suitable for the super-premium and ultra-premium retail classifications, the wine grapes and bulk wine of the Suisun Valley are sure to fit the bill and do so without breaking the bank.

Twenty varieties are grown in the confines of the Suisun Valley: Barbera, Cabernet Sauvignon, Chardonnay, Gamay, Grenache, Merlot, Mourvedre, Muscat Canelli, Petite Sirah, Petite Verdot, Pinot Gris, Pinot Noir, Primitivo, Rousanne, Sauvignon Blanc, Sangiovese, Syrah, Viognier, White Riesling, and Zinfandel.
